This is an excellent opportunity to work for a leading New Zealand work wear manufacturer and distributor, in a role where you will be responsible for the overall development of the apparel product from conception to completion. You will be directly responsible for the product sourcing, planning and strategies which will require strong commercial acumen and sound apparel technical knowledge. With your superior negotiation and communication skills you will be working closely with manufacturing and supply partners to deliver innovative, quality and competitive priced apparel solutions, driving sales and maximising revenue.

In order to be successful in this role it is essential you have the following experience and attributes;

- A strategic and analytical mind
- Ability to interpret the market and industry trends
- Self-motivated and process driven, a multi-tasker with an eye for detail
- Product management experience required in apparel
- A good understanding of the manufacturing process and multi-channel marketing in a B2B and retail environment
- A proven track record and commitment to identifying and delivering customer solutions.
- Tertiary qualification required

If this sounds like you then don't miss this fantastic and rewarding opportunity to further your career and work for a great team.
